DETAILED ACTION

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. 1-20 and 24-31 are presently pending for examination.

Response to Arguments

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The rejection of claims 9-20 and 24-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, is withdrawn in response to Applicant's amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 1-20 remain rejected and claims 24-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sheng-Hui et al. (WO 97/43451 A1; See IDS) in view of De Clerq et al. (previously cited) and Alexander et al. (previously cited). *(It is noted that although claims 9-20 are rejected under 112, 2nd as set forth above, the prior art is applied to the extent that R5, R6, and R7 are not all limited to a solid phase), for the reasons of record.
5. Applicant's arguments filed 8-29-08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants traversed the instant rejection on the grounds that "[B]ecause the hypothetical combination of the three references suggested in the Office Action lacks at least one element of the applicant's claims, the position of the substituents in the cyclic moiety, the § 103 rejection of claim 1 over Sheng-Hui in view of DeClerq and Alexander may not be sustained."

6. Contrary to Applicant's assertions, there is significant evidence of structural similarity between the cited references and the claims of the instant invention. See e.g., In re Dillon, 919 F.2d 688, 693, 16 USPQ2d 1897, 1902 (Fed. Cir. 1990) (en banc) ("[I]t is not necessary in order to establish a prima facie case of obviousness that both a structural similarity between a claimed and prior art compound (or a key component of a composition) be shown and that there be a suggestion in or expectation from the prior art that the claimed compound or composition will have the same or a similar utility as one newly discovered by applicant"). Additionally, see also Deuel, 51 F.3d at 1558, 34 USPQ2d at 1214 ("Structural relationships may provide the requisite motivation or suggestion to modify known compounds to obtain new compounds. For example, a prior art compound may suggest its homologs because homologs often have similar properties and therefore chemists of ordinary skill would ordinarily contemplate making them to try to obtain compounds with improved properties."). **

7. In the instant case, there is both structural similarity, and a prior art recognized use for the disclosed compounds in the same methods set forth in the instant claims, namely for the synthesis of oligonucleotides, and furthermore labeled nucleotide acids or oligonucleotides. Therefore, due to the lack of any secondary considerations, the ordinary skilled artisan looking for alternative compounds used in the synthesis and design of oligomeric compounds would have been motivated to design compounds according to the present invention, since the prior art clearly teaches that substituted or unsubstituted cyclohexane, and similar compounds such as 1,5-anhydrohexitol compounds are useful in the design of oligomeric compounds according to the present invention. Applicants have not provided any evidence to the contrary.

As stated in the prior Office Action, it would have been obvious to the ordinary skilled artisan to modify the reagents of Sheng-Hui et al. with the substituted cyclohexene compounds of De Clerq et al. in the design of the instant invention. The ordinary skilled artisan would have been motivated to make this modification since Sheng-Hui et al. expressly teach that X¹ in the formula of their disclosed reagents preferably are substituted cyclohexane compounds. See MPEP § 2144.06, which recites: "[I]t is prima facie obvious to combine two compositions each of which is taught by the prior art to be useful for the same purpose, in order to form a third composition to be used for the very same purpose.... [T]he idea of combining them flows logically from their having been individually taught in the prior art." In re Kerkhoven, 626 F.2d 846, 850, 205 USPQ 1069, 1072 (CCPA 1980) (citations omitted).

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
